The Necessity of Nephrology Consultation for Critically Ill Patients with Acute Renal Failure

Author(s): AR Lataifeh*, Al-Ourani , T Gress, Z Khitan and F Zeid

Background: Acute renal failure (ARF) continues to be a challenging problem in critically ill patients. We reviewed the nephrology consultations in our ICU to assess the necessity of those consultations and if there are any clinical criteria to indicate a necessary consultation. ...
Background: Acute renal failure (ARF) continues to be a challenging problem in critically ill patients. We reviewed the nephrology consultations in our ICU to assess the necessity of those consultations and if there are any clinical criteria to indicate a necessary consultation. ...