Magnitude and Associated Factors for Home Delivery Among Women Who Gave Birth in Last 12 Months in Ayssaita, Afar, Ethiopia-2016. A community Based Cross Sectional Study

Published On: August 31, 2017 | Pages: 030 - 039

Author(s): Momina Abdella, Araya Abraha, Abel Gebre and P Surender Reddy,

Introduction: Proper medical attention and hygienic conditions during delivery can reduce the risk of complications and infections that can cause the death or serious illness of the mother or newborn baby. Home deliveries are common in developing Home deliveries range from 22% in Senegal, 65% in Tanzania, 87.7% in Bangladesh and 94% in Ethiopia. ...

The effects of Semen Parameters and age on Sperm Motility of Iranian men

Published On: June 19, 2017 | Pages: 024 - 029

Author(s): Khadijeh Shabani, Sedighe Hosseini, Arash G Mohammad khani and Sahar Moghbelinejad*

Objective: Sperm motility is one of the most important factor in fertility of men. Because, it describes the ability of sperm to move properly through the female reproductive tract and reach the egg in order to eritlize it. Various factors, such as semen quality and other parameters are known to be effect on sperm motility. This study was designed to determine, how s ...
Objectives: Polycystic ovary syndrome (PCOS) is the most common cause of anovulatory infertility. However, they sustained fertility at an advanced age. We aimed to evaluate ovarian reserve of the PCOS patients of advanced age and the control groups. ...

Ovarian tissue cryopreservation / transplantation (OTC/OTT) has recently been considered as a well-established rather than an experimental method (at least adopting pragmatic optimism) and turned into a realistic option for a healthy woman needing to delay her childbearing and defer her menopause. ...

India – A Preferred Destination for IVF Treatment

In this the major focus is on country India which is chosen as best destination for infertility related issues. what are the major factors for selecting India for IVF Treatment. Let us go through the different factors by understanding the cause of each factor in depth. ...