New corona virus disease (COVID-19) is a recent worldwide pandemic occurred as a result of SARS-CoV-2 virus, where, it spreads mainly through large respiratory droplets, and probability of other routes of transmission do exist, due to the suspicion of the viral abundance in feces and urine of affected individuals [1]. The transfer and transmission of COVID-19 is high...