Bovine whey improved the myocardial and lung damage of mother rats fed on a high fat diet

Published On: February 28, 2020 | Pages: 001 - 008

Author(s): Hassan IH El-Sayyad*, Hebat A el-Ghawet, Khaled SM El-Bayomi and Eman Emara

Background: High fat diet associated obesity associating losing of body organs structure and function is of important public health problem. The heart and lungs represent the main organs of supplying oxygen, nutrients and nutritive molecules necessary for the body function. Little of work is concerned with higher fat diet associated myocardial and lung damage. Also, ...